Things are pretty busy here at SJSU, now that the semester break is over. The semester break was a time to catch up on paper-work and plan for the upcoming semester. It was also a time to see God do some great things.

Over the past two years, we've consistently been getting 60-70 students at our weekly meeting. The room we've been meeting in can't hold more than that, so our growth as a ministry has been constrained. We've been looking for a bigger room, but nothing has been available. During the break, however, God answered our prayers.

Last spring, the engineering department opened up a new building. It's an ultra-modern facility complete with an auditorium that seats up to 220 people. We approached the Department and explained our situation, and while the dept. normally doesn't let non-engineering clubs use the facility, they decided to let us use the auditorium for the entire semester, starting on Feb. 6.

It couldn't have come at a better time. Last Tuesday, we had our first meeting of the semester in our old meeting room. We had 80 people there. It was so crowded, many people had to stand up in the back and in the hallway. A lot of these students were newcomers. I believe we're beginning to see a spiritual revival here at SJSU. Won't you pray with me that God's Spirit would continue to sweep across the campus here, and that we would be faithful to do our part in evangelizing and discipling the new believers.

I myself am working with 9 students, some new Christians, some more mature. Please pray that God would give me wisdom and patience as I seek to disciple them into men of God.

I can't tell you how thankful I am for your prayers and support and for the impact that you're having in the lives of students. Please know that I pray for you often.

Your servant in Christ,

Dave Lowe
