
The Lowedown

A monthly newsletter from Dave Lowe

February 5, 1993

After living out of my suitcase for over a month, I'm finally back at San Jose State, ready to continue my ministry to college students.

I left San Jose on December 16 for a few days in Southern Cal. It was a refreshing time of seeing some family and friends, as well as the missions pastor at my home church.

I then drove to Fresno to pick up Jennifer. We drove to Groveland (near Yosemite) where my parents live and spent a few days with them for Christmas.

Back to Fresno we went for a few days of Christmas with Jennifer's family.

On the 26th, Jennifer and I drove to San Francisco for our annual Christmas Conference.

The Conference was a great success. There were over 1300 college students from Arizona, California and Hawaii, including 35 students from San Jose State.

After the Conference, Jen and I attended a 2 day staff conference.

After the conference, I spent two and a half weeks in Southern California. I think it rained almost every day that I was there.

Most of my time was spent raising additional support and seeing ministry supporters. It was a very productive time, as God allowed me to raise an additional $150 in new monthly support.

One of the interesting things that I was able to experience while I was in Southern California, was a flight lesson.

One of my partners is a flight instructor at Brackett airport in LaVerne. He took me up and showed me how to do barrel turns. We were going to do some touch and go landings, but the weather got pretty bad so we had to land.

After spending time in L.A., I drove back to Fresno so that Jennifer and I could meet with the pastor of her home church in Fresno.

Now I'm back in San Jose, the school semester has just started and with all the changes looming on the horizon, I'm finding it difficult to focus on my current ministry.

Please continue to pray for my daily walk with God, my relationship with Jennifer, my current support needs as well as the guys that I'm discipling.

I love you and appreciate your commitment to me.

"One of the interesting things that I was able to experience while I was in Southern California, was a flight lesson."